with a supplemental issue of $600,000. Owing to a default in interest the road was sold under foreclosure in 1872. The state became the buyer, and afterward redeemed the indorsed bonds and the accumulated interest, amounting to $2,455,000. The road connects with Savannah by the Atlantic and Georgia railroad. P. T. Wilson & Co., bankers of New York, are among the purchasers of the road. The price paid $1,125,000, is considered cheap. Is is intended to extend the road to Atlanta, and probably to Decentry Als. The road then with probably to Decatur, Ala. The road then, with its connections, will be the shortest route from the southern Atlantic coast to St. Louis, Chicago and the northwest. By using the Memphis and Charleston road from Decatur, Ala, to Corinth, Miss., thence by the Mobile and Ohio railroad to Cairo and Columbus, and then by the way on the Iron Mountain and Illinois Central, a complete connection will be made with St. Louis and Chicago. It is said that a number of eastern railroad men are conprobably to Decatur, Ala. the wires from Nashville, around by Louisville. While these rumors lack a solid basis, there is still a good deal of plausibility in the story that Cole is working up a new combination. He has got two pieces of railroad, and to a man of genius like Cole, that is sufficient groundwork to construct a huge combination. If he should get hold of the Cincinnati Southern and the Memphis and Charleston, with his possibilities in Georgia, he will yet be able to prove a veritable thorn in the flesh

As a member of the committee on territories he could say the committee would be glad to be relieved from further responsibility in this important matter, though he was also a member of the committee. The senate will use up the entire week on the Fitz-John Porter case, and it may run a fortnight. As there is no actual business in that body, the Porter bill comes in as a convalescent subject for senatorial chin.

in Paris that the message assured the safety of the caual.

Captain Eads read a paper before the committee advocating his ship railway plan. He claimed that such a railway would cost only a quarter to half as much as a canal, could be built sooner, would transport more vessels and do it faster, was cheaper to maintain, and could be constructed in localities where a canal could not. Ships would foat from the harbor into a large cradle, which would run up a gradual incline on to the railway with twelve rails; over which it would be drawn by steam power. Any seaworthy vessel would stand any strain that it could be subjected to on this railway. M. DeLesseps highly complimented Mr. Eads on his engineering achievements. He did not wish to discuss the plan of a railway; it was not in his line. Many such plans had been proposed but none yet executed. The committee then adjourned. M. DeLesseps immediately left for San Francisco.

Among the documents sent to the senate by the president relative to the inter-oceanic canal is a report from Secretary Evarts setting forth the entire diplomatic history of the canal. The main point brought out therein is that our treaty with New Grenada guarantees the independence of that republic and neutrality of any line of transit that may be constructed through it between the two oceans and that this treaty was made not for pecuniary benefit of the United States, but for the advantage of all nations. Secretary Evaris concludes that it may be assumed that no negotiations will be had between private projectors and the Columbian government without duly regarding the nevitable action of the United States under this treaty. tates under this treaty.

The sugar question has been referred to a sub-committee consisting of Carlisle, Tucker, Frye, Gibson and Garfield.

The house judiciary committee has agreed to report favorably Mr. Thompson's bill relative to the supervisors of election, providing that only deputy-marshals shall be appointed in any voting precinct; that the supervisors and deputy-marshals shall receive only $1.50 daily and have no other fees; that no fees shall be paid except by special appropriation, and that no arrests shall be made on election day, but that warrants may be executed at any time after its close,

THE SENATE. The vice-president laid before the senate message from the president of the United states received yesterday in response to the senate resolution calling for the correspond ence between this and other governments concerning the inter-oceanic canal. It was read with accompanying documents. Referred to committee on foreign relations.

Mr. Thurman presented a memorial of delegates of Indian tribes in the Indian territory remonstrating against the passage of the bill to establish a United States court in that territory. In view of important legal questions involved in the subject he moved the reference of the memorial to the committee on the judiciary.

Mr. Garland opposed the motion.

The bill was before the senate, and its legal effect could be discussed in the senate. If this memorial and various resolutions heretofore offered were referred to the judiciary.

Mr. Morgan introduced a joint resolution providing for the printing of culogies on the late Senator Houston. Referred.

The senate then proceeded to consider the calendar. The bill to provide for the settlement of accounts with certain southern railway companies was objected to by Mr. Edmunds and laid aside.

The morning hour having expired, the house proceeded to the consideration of the house calendar, and took up the "political assessments bill," upon which Mr. Hostetler gave notice that he would call the previous question at 4 o'clock to-morrow.

Mr. House, of Tennessee, spoke at length in favor of the bill, reciting the professions of desire for civil service reform made by the republican party and by this administration, and showing how in spite of them Hayes had been seated by frand, and had rewarded with money and offices, men in Florida and Louisiana, who had committed that fraud. He thought the bill would remedy this great evil and eradicate a terrible abuse. It would enable the feellest man in the employ of the government to paralyze the arm of a campaign collector who should endeavor to flich from him a portion of his hard-earned wages. At the conclusion of his remarks the house adjourned.

Trains will run on time as usual, as the wreck was removed to-day.

AMERICUS, March 5.-Considerable of sensation was created on yesterday morn-ing by the discovery of the dead body of a white infant buried in a ditch in the northern part of the city. The body was discovered by Mr. P. L. Mize, who had reasons to suspect that it was, perhaps, concealed somewhere near his premises. It seems that a young woman from Lee county had been boarding at his house for a few days, ostensibly for the purpose of receiving the benefit of better medical attention than she could get down in the rural neighborhood where she lived, as she professed to be in bad health and not able to procure proper treatment where her family resided. The woman remained at Mixe's two or three days before the woman remedied anything but finally believing.

Mize's two or three days before the woman suspected anything, but finally believing that all was not right Mr. Mize gave her to understand that she must go home or seek other quarters. The discovery was made after the woman had left the city. The coroner and a jury held an inquest yesterday and returned a verdict that the baby's death was caused by abortion produced death was caused by abortion produced by its mother, a Miss Purvis. He did not impress me as a warm Tilden man. I think he believes that Seymour can be induced to run. He could carry New York, and he has large influence in other states.

"Is it thought that the Tammany leader can be conciliated?"

"No, he cannot be conciliated. Senator Kernan thinks that we do not understand New York politics out here, and he says he does. He says that the element to be conciliated is that composed of 40,000 voters outside of the city. With that made right, the senator said, the city would be right. Just how they propose to make it right I don't know, but they certainly believe that they will be able to do so. It is understood in New York, as it should be everywhere, that Mr. Tilden will make no surrender, but will not, as I said before, force himself upon the party against its best interests.

After some diligent inquiry it was ascertained that he was a native of Rhode Island, whose constitution stood in need of repair and who had, some three weeks previously, hed him to St. Marys in search of invigorating breezes and a restorative climate. He is a brother, it is said, of Lieutenan F. V. Greene, at present one of the supervising engineers for municipal works in and about Washington City. A WORK OF MERCY

THAT WILL BE AN HONOR TO US.

The Public Hospital to be Established—Its 05
Buttable Buildings—The Medical Butta—A Fixed Fact.

For years it has been a discredit to the progress and enlightenment of Atlanta that she had within her limits no hospital of any description, where the suffering of the people might be alleviated. If an accident occurred upon the streets, the bleeding victim had to be taken into an alley or into some ineighboring cover where there were neither the conveniences nor the surroundings for a successful treatment. If a member of a poor family became prostrated, he had to remain in an over-heated room, often the bed-room, a sitting-room and kitchen combined, distracted by the noises and made still worse by the noxious gases, so that recovery was next to impossible. Even the rich were under disadvantages, for their money could seldom purchase the careful skill and devotion so necessary to convalescence.

But this reproach is about to pass away and additional to the propose of the particularly charged the grand jury.

To investigate the Lagran is the prisoner for parts unknown. A gentleman who approached the party had a gun leveled at him and was ordered to return to his dwelling. The next day the body of the negro was found hanging to a tree about seven miles from the town of Jonesboor of An account of the lynching was published at the time.

At the opening of the present term of Clayton superior court, Judge George Hill-yer made this transaction a prominent feature of his charge to the grand jury. He denounced all such interferences with the course of justice, and marked out their evil breather the conveniences and made still worse by the noxious gases, so that recovery was next to impossible. Even the rich were under disadvantages, for their money could seldom purchase the careful skill and devotion so necessary to convalescence.

But this reproach is about to pass away and be all the prisoner for parts and the prisoner in the darket in the transaction was already safely in the hands of the law which had been violated.

But this reproach is about to pass away and Atlanta is to rejoice in the possession of an institution that will be at once an honor and ornament to the city, a source of congratulation to our citizens and a boon to the afflicted. At a recent visit of some Sisters of Mercy from Savannah, they conceived the idea that this indeed was mis-sionary ground for the relief of distress. They at once began to plan their new work and plan after due consultation with their superiors, and with many of our leading physicians, they purchased the large house on the corner of Collins and Baker streets, and are now busily engaged in putting it in order for the reception of patients. The establishment will be fully organized, and at work, within two weeks. The hospital will be under the immediate management of Sister Cecilia, of Savannah, assisted by a number of her order, which fact alone is a guarantee that the sick will be in the best of hands. Dr. F. H. O'Brien, a talented and rising young physician of Atlanta, will be the chief medical officer. He will be ably assisted by Dr. J. J. Knott, in the department of surgery; Dr. A. W. Calhoun, department of the eye and ear; and Dr. Charles R. Upton, department of the heart and lungs. The following distinguished gentlemen have also consented to act as an advisory board: Dr. H. V. M. Miller, Dr. Joseph P. Logan, Dr. W. G. Owen, Dr. J. F. Alexander, Dr. R. B. Ridley, Dr. Charles Pinckney, Dr. Bak.

Under such control, and under the patronage of such able medical gentlemen, there is no reason why this hospital should not be considered our greatest charity. A Vigorous Demanciation of it From the Bench support of a Grand Jury.

It is remembered that some weeks ago a negro by the name of Nathan Smith was arrested in Clayton county, chaged with an attempt to outrage some ladies of the family of S. H. Gay, Esq., one of the oldest esidents of the county. He was incaree-rated in the new jail at Jonesboro', and remained there undisturbed for about a week. At first there were apprehensions in the community that violence might be offered the prisoner, but as days passed and no movement in that direction was discernible, precaptions were relayed. ole, precautions were relaxed.

of the proposed dissolution of parliament in the house of commons, yesterday, was a complete surprise. The liberal leaders will NO. 224. meet to day to decide upon the course to be adopted. Writs will be issued on the 24th instant, and it is believed that many of the elections will be over by the first week in April. Sir Stafford Northcote's address to the electors of North Devon will be issued immediately in the form of a manifesto relative to the policy of the government. Lord Hartington and Mr. Gladstone will ssue formal manifestoes to northeast Lascashire, and MidLothian respectively. Each will deal at length with the policy of the ministers from an opposition point of view. Right Hon. R. Asheton Cross's address to the electors of southwest Lancashire is also expected to be of the character of the manifesto, while those of Hon. John Bright and Right Honorable William E. Forster will be exceedingly brief. All are expected to appear within the next three days. Mr. William Shaw. head of the home rulers, will at once pro-

What is true of Georgia must be true in a degree of the entire south, for whatever is calculated to give an impulse to the planting interests in one state must extend its influence to every other state. We may look, therefore, with propitious seasons, for a considerable increase in the cotton crop. The present crop was planted under great disadvantages. Prices were ruling low, and the prospects were gloomy, but, notwithstanding these things, it will amount, as we shall presently show by figures, to considerably more than the crop of 1878-79, which was 5,073,531 bales. It is questionable whether it will pay our farmers to raise a much larger crop than will be marketed this year; in other words, it is to be feared that production will outrun consumption, and whenever the supply exceeds the demand, prices must rule at an unprofitable figure. Of the present crop—that is been received at the ports to March 1. 4,215,929 bales. On the same date the stock at the interior towns, less stock on hand September 1, amounted to 309,000 bales. cial and labor reformers who met here this week, is said to be one of the richest man in Texas. He is a lawyer by trade, though he has been in the banking business, and is a resident of Cleburn county. Mr. Dillaye, the nominee for president, can hardly be accused of being wealthy, for he works on a newspaper at a low salary. Neither of these gentlemen, however, can be rated as fair representatives of the sons of toll. No working man or fluancial reformer will ever vote to send a lawyer or a banker to Washington to look after his interests. It is all proper enough to send editors, though.

Judge Lochrane's Nerve.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Judge Lochrane, of Georgia, the southern democrat who has been most prominent in his advocacy of Grant, has offered to bet $1,000 that Grant will receive at the Chicago convention. 398 votes on the first beliot, thus giving him the nomination. He figures it out that he will have 290 votes in solid state delegations, and 108. at least, from delegations that are divided. Of course, everybody will say that Judge Lochrane doesn't know anything more about it than thousands of other robliticians. The answer to this is, however that anything more about it than thousands of other politicians. The answer to this is, however that he probably knows as much, and is besides, ready o back his opinion with his money, which shows hat he has nerve.

Scab is doing equally as well, 450 average selling for $10.50 to $11 per 1,000 The foreign demand continues active, with an upward tendency in prices, and the indications are favorable for a large business for the remainder of the season.

—Darien Gazette: On Tuesday afternoon last, one of the colored hands, named Sterling Gignilliat, was at work at the Lower Bluff mill of the Hilton timber and lumber company, he by some means got his feet too near the butting saw and was terribly cut. The left foot had three wounds on the side, the lower one extending from the base of the toes to the heel; the others, while not so long, are considered more dangerous by the physician, as the bones of the foot are splintered and torn up; the right foot has one cut on the bottom extending across the ball. The wounded man was brought to the city and placed under the care of Dr. Harris, who dressed the wounds, and the

A correspondent of the Newman Herald doesn't think it is right for the legislature to appropriate money to settle foreigners on our lands while our own children go homeless. Is the legislature doing this?

THE GREAT WORLD ALLS

THE GREAT WO —Augusta Chromcle: There seems to be very few dissenting voices to the proposition to subscribe $50,000 to the stock of the Augusta and Knoxville railroad, and the majority for subscription at the election next Wednesday will undoubtedly be very large. It is a self-evident fact that the new road will be of great benefit to every class of our citizens, for that which increases trade and brings more money into the city, helps everybody. The receipts of cotton in Augusta will be at least 25,000 bales greater when the road is in operation, than they are now, and our readers need no demonstration to tell what that means. But this is not all by any means. There are other products to be brought here besides cotton, and there are hundreds of planters who will $\frac{1}{2}$do their trading here who now go elsewhere. Besides all this, the shops and depots of the company will be built here, giving employment to a large number of mechanics and laborers. The city will get back in a very short time far more than the amount of the subscription, while will be time the stock.

will get back in a very short time far more than the amount of the subscription, while still holding the stock. It is clear that if this subscription is not made now the completion of the road will be put off to the distant future, or maybap, it will never be built. We are satisfied that the people of Augusta are not willing that so important an enterprise should have so unfortunate a termination, and for that reason we are confident that the subscription will be vo.ed by a very large majority.

fident that the subscription will be vo.ed by a very large majority.

—Bainbridge Democrat: Decatur county has as fine pine forests as any available section on the habitable globe. This we assert without fear of contradiction, but until within the last six months no one has attempted to develop this vast resource to any considerable extent. W. J. Hadden & Co. of New Jersey, men of enterprise, energy and capital, have come in and are now engaged extensively in the timber business. Within a few miles of our town they own four thousand acres of heavily timbered land, lying adjacent to the river, a stream always in good rafting condition. For some months past Hadden & Co. have been filling a government contract for the Brooklyn navy yard, and are now engaged in getting out a manmoth bill for the great bridge that is to span the Hudson river between the city of Brooklyn and New York. The extent of this contract will be apparent to the reader after perusing the article on this page of our paser, which we copy from the New York Times. This alone is a grand advertisement for our county. Major Harris, of this firm, informed the writer that they now had orders for over nine million feet of timber. The plan of shipment is by rafting to Apslachicola, and from there to New York. Two big rafts left last week, and others will go forward this week. Hadden & Co. are responsible men, which is shown by their immense contracts, and are besides most public-spirited, clever and intelligent gentlemen. Through them, we believe the day not far distant when Decature out of the reader after perusing them, which is shown by their immense contracts, and are besides most public-spirited, clever and intelligent gentlemen. Through them, we believe the day not far distant when Decature out will be come the timber cutter's paradise.

believe the day not far distant when Decature courty will become the timber cutter's paradise.

—Macon Telegraph: Under the stimulus of enlarged acreage, unprecedented guano sales and high prices, with ordinary season, such a crop will be produced the present year as the world never saw. We should not be surprised to see it reach six and ahalf millions of bales, or even more. The increase, too, will be at the cost of diminished breadstuffs, meat supplies, and the small crops which contribute so much to the real independence and comfort of the farmer. Nor will his profit, granting that a full crop is gathered, by any means come up to his expectation. In the first place, taking Marshallville as a guide, over one-fourth of the guano dealers, even if the crop is an average one. If the worm, drought, storms or early frosts, contract the yield, so inuch the worse off will the farmer be. 2 Labor, mules and plantation implements are from twenty-five to thirty per cent higher than last year. 3 Corn, (of which immense supplies must be purchased), and bacon, have advanced 25 per cent; and, 4th. It is evident from the tremendous trade of the winter and early spring, that our farmers have had their heads turned by the rise in cotton, and are disposed to go back to their old habits of extravaguace. While it is still time, therefore, we call upon them to look out for "breakers ahead," reef sails, cast out it was a coming storm under "bare poles."

THE PRICE of the 'DOMENTIC' is as low as a well made SewingMachinecan be sold and it is undoubtedly the CHEAPEST (in the end) Machine to-buy. But, it does not compete with the low-priced Machines of the day. They have one class of trade, and we have a very different market for our goods. Our sales are to the intelligent and well-to-do-portion of the community who can understand and appreciate real excellence, and whose necessities do not compel them to get along with an interior article.
